Fall Series ft. Kismet Cosmetics

Fall is almost here and that means enjoying some deeper tones. If you are like me and still like nude shades no matter what time of year, you will love this new shade from Kismet Cosmetics. Elope is one of four newly released Succulent Liquid Lipsticks with smooth, lustrous color. Other colors in the collection include Flamingo (bright pink), Speakeasy (vibrant red), and On Point (classic pink).

All of Kismet's new liquid lipsticks are gluten, paraben, and lanolin-free. They are also vegan and made in the US. The formula is very smooth and hydrating. Each of these lipsticks are formulated with Vitamin C & E so they not only provide gorgeous color, but they nourish for your lips as well. In terms of packaging, I really like the design of the tube. It feels very luxurious and I like the thicker clear plastic surrounding the product. The applicator is a flat doe foot which helps for more efficient coverage and precise application. I'm not used to this style but I actually really like it! I wish more of my lip products had this feature.

This is an incredibly opaque liquid lipstick. There is nothing sheer about it! It gives full, glossy color that suits a multitude of looks. This deeper nude has a warm, brown tone so it's a great shade for fall. The formula is very comfortable and it doesn't take much to fully coat your lips. There is no stickiness or tackiness whatsoever. It also wears well and doesn't leave uneven patches of color as it wears off through the day.

As a bonus, this shade also helps some of my lightest nude lipsticks become more wearable. I have a few super light nude lipsticks that wash me out if applied on their own. By putting them over this shade, they are suddenly wearable again and I get a totally "new nude" to enjoy!

Whether you want a versatile nude to add to your collection, or you're ready for a pop of color, Kismet has a wide variety of lipsticks to suit any taste!
