With fashion week just around the corner, bloggers, models, celebrities, and influencers are traveling from all over the world to New York City. Aside from the shows themselves, there are launches, parties, and other events that the fashion elites are expected to attend and of course look amazing. Clearly, it's nearly impossible for most people to bring their entire wardrobe and makeup collections, especially when flights are so strict about luggage. This is where the Glam Bag Collection, a collaboration between Kismet Cosmetics and SavvyRoot, becomes an almost crucial accessory for MBFW, particularly for those who will be hitting the shows in Milan, Paris, London, etc.

The Glam Bag Collection offers clients a unique experience where they can not only pick the products included, but also choose the bag themselves. The basic bag includes an on point matte lipstick from their Velvet collection and a nail polish from their Nail Colour collection, in the shades you can expect to see gracing the runway. Above the basic bag, the Glam Bag Collection offers add ons, including bronzing body lotion, liquid lipstick, and additional lipsticks and nail colors.

SavvyRoot offers makeup bags that are entirely handmade from leather in several different colors that can protect your makeup, fit into your fabulous purse, and be a great cosmetic travel companion. Kismet Cosmetics are completely cruelty free, with many of their products vegan and gluten free as well. Their lipsticks and polishes will last from the first show of the day until the last party at night.

The Glam Bag Collection launches September 5, 2015 on KismetCosmetics.com - just in time for NYFW.
